

I am hearing that the FCC is considering some proposals re: Indiana's Telephone Privacy law and want to inform the FCC that this law has improved our family's time at home considerably. We used to receive 5 to 10 calls every day from telephone solicitors. They would start calling at 7am, waking up my children and continue through the night until 11pm. They would even call on Sundays. Since I registered our telephone number, we have received 3 telemarketing calls....in a 7 month period!! All I have to do is mention the privacy law and they apologize and hang up!!! Please don't change this law...my family is too busy to be bothered by all of these solicitors....they are still welcome to send me mail if they feel they need to let me know about their product/service. Thanks for your time.
